University of Huddersfield Repository

Jabbar, Abdul

Characterising features of culturally responsive teaching in UK Higher Education Business Schools.

Original Citation

This version is available at http://eprints.hud.ac.uk/17059/

The University Repository is a digital collection of the research output of the University, available on Open Access. Copyright and Moral Rights for the items on this site are retained by the individual author and/or other copyright owners. Users may access full items free of charge; copies of full text items generally can be reproduced, displayed or performed and given to third parties in any format or medium for personal research or study, educational or not-for-profit purposes without prior permission or charge, provided:

- The authors, title and full bibliographic details is credited in any copy;
- A hyperlink and/or URL is included for the original metadata page; and
- The content is not changed in any way.

For more information, including our policy and submission procedure, please contact the Repository Team at: E.mailbox@hud.ac.uk.

http://eprints.hud.ac.uk/
Culturally responsive teaching in UK higher education

Characterising features of culturally responsive teaching.
An academic approach
Aims of this paper

- Explore the relevance of culturally responsive teaching in UK higher education

- Examine the Methods and mechanisms of pedagogy in H.E. for equality and diversity

- Identify the characteristics of culturally responsive teaching Ethnicity?
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Characteristic</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Literature</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
Cultural consciousness

validating & affirming understanding & empathy

reflective & disruptive resources

credibility, experts of knowledge

Culture as a resource not as an obstacle targeted resources

Moral responsibility

agents of change

confidence in themselves and in the academic commitment to making success happen cultural bridging

Passion to engage students in knowledge construction

Build on what they do know, not on what they don't

Cultural mismatch
HE Curriculum

Policies and practices

White syllabus

Ingrained climate of failure
• pressure to succeed from parents

• One upmanship

• Expected to marry young

• Expected to have an arranged marriage

• forced to flee for their safety

Forced to work at young age to support their parents
Too early to determine best practice, but my early research hints that culturally responsive teaching:

- can create equality not preference
- can build bridges between the academic and the student
- Can allows students to recognise content that is meaningful to them, thereby validating what they already know
- Can provide consistency that encompasses and underpins the pedagogy

