University of Huddersfield Repository

Hargreaves, Janet

Atlantic Crossing: international influences on Nurse Education in England

Original Citation

This version is available at http://eprints.hud.ac.uk/11376/

The University Repository is a digital collection of the research output of the University, available on Open Access. Copyright and Moral Rights for the items on this site are retained by the individual author and/or other copyright owners. Users may access full items free of charge; copies of full text items generally can be reproduced, displayed or performed and given to third parties in any format or medium for personal research or study, educational or not-for-profit purposes without prior permission or charge, provided:

- The authors, title and full bibliographic details is credited in any copy;
- A hyperlink and/or URL is included for the original metadata page; and
- The content is not changed in any way.

For more information, including our policy and submission procedure, please contact the Repository Team at: E.mailbox@hud.ac.uk.

http://eprints.hud.ac.uk/
Atlantic Crossing: international influences on Nurse Education in England

- Dr. Janet Hargreaves
- University of Huddersfield
- J.hargreaves@hud.ac.uk/ 01484 471822

Inspiring tomorrow’s professionals
Background

In this session – explore one aspect of the data relating to a British nurse educationalist’s study year at Teachers College, Columbia University 1954 -55.
Methods

- Life history
- Semi structured interviews
- Documentary analysis
  - Nursing times and mirror
  - Alice's report to the Red Cross (1955)
  - GNC syllabus (1952)
Aims of the paper

- What did the opportunity to study at Teachers give Alice?

- How did USA and UK nurse education compare in the early 1950s?

- What influences did Alice bring back to her role?
“In 1932 I was about 17, in my last year at the high school a woman came to talk to us about careers - there was a depression and colleges were shutting. She talked about teaching and then about nursing and somehow or other it just clicked with me and I thought that’s what I want to do - - I told my Dad I’m not going to college, I’m going to nurse.”
Alice’s career timeline:

- pre-registration TB diploma 1932 - 33
- SRN - 1936 - 1939
- Midwifery 1940 -41
- Night sister 1941-46 (+ sister tutor course P/T 1946)
- Nurse tutor 1946 -1956 (+ London Diploma 1949))
- Red Cross scholarship to teachers college, New York 1954 -1955
- Principle tutor 1956 -1973
- Retirement
The experience at Teachers:

- The milieu:

  - International – 500 students from 60 nations
  - Egalitarian – ‘colour, race and creed seem to be insignificant factors’
  - Intellectual – the chance to study to degree level – a wide liberal curriculum

Inspiring tomorrow’s professionals
The syllabus in the UK

- National syllabus and exams set by GNC (1952)

- Three year apprenticeship with an approved hospital and attached nursing school.

- 232 hours + revision and coaching = 20 weeks over 3 years – included Pre training school = (14%)

- GNC comment: – ‘advised but not realised’ – subordinate to hospital needs.

- Anatomy & physiology, first aid, nursing practice, psychology, ward management and invalid cookery.
The American curriculum -1955:

- American curricula: 9 hospital/university providers visited -11 courses

12 month practical programme? Qualification/registration?
2 years practice = associate science degree or other qualification x 2
Direct from high school -36 months = registered but no degree -2 year conversion for BSc
Direct from college – 32 months + BSc
2 years academic + 3 years practice = BSc x2
Pilot – 2 year educational course (no nursing) followed by 3 year practice programme = BSc
‘unique ‘ 3 year course ‘based on students needs’ - students follow individual patients
Direct entry post graduate – 2 years 8 months practice = BSc
4 year course (no detail) = BSc
Direct post graduate – 34 months = Masters of nursing
The legacy for Alice

- Culturally rich profession in which international exchange and debate are invaluable - Alice kept in touch with international colleagues and attended the International Congress of Nursing several times.
- Influential in developing the first degree level programme in the city she was principal tutor in
- Represented the region for the RCN at national level, influencing national policy

Inspiring tomorrow’s professionals