This conference is designed for professional Fashion and Textile Educators, Mphil or PhD students, and interested industrial partners
This conference addresses the future challenges and opportunities for the development of fashion and textiles education in light of a rapidly changing external landscape, both locally and globally.

The FTC Association has assembled a number of experienced industry speakers with a range of perspectives on future trends and customer behaviour, sourcing, manufacturing and retail, to provide insights and prompt debate on a number of issues:

- Are our current perspectives of the ‘employable graduate’ still relevant in this ‘flat world’ and what are the implications for the student experience?
- What really is ‘internationalisation’ and how do we ensure currency and resources to develop higher-level skills?

The ‘ever-changing’ creative industries require new and exciting ways to create products, communities, opportunities and profits. Prevailing discourse around ‘interdisciplinary’ emphasises the ‘creative imagination’ as the most important attribute in breaking down traditional discipline silos.

The question, ‘what are the implications for fashion and textiles within the context of art and design education and other disciplines?’ has prompted the FTC research study: Mapping the Territory.

In addition, the conference will include over 25 research presentations from the sector.
